Death of Miss Hines.

Miss Ruth Esther Hines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hines, died yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, at her home, No. 110 East Twelfth Street, aged nineteen years. Miss Hines had been sick a long time. She was a bright girl and was loved and esteemed by many who grieve at her death.

Broke the Bars.

The small colored boy, Charlie Carrington, who was arrested by Sergeant Wright and Officer Moore for breaking into Mrs. Pacini's store, caused much destruction at the station house last night. He broke the lock to the cell door and attempted to escape through the wicket in the door, a hole about a foot square. His body was caught in the hole, and the door had to be broken before he could be released. Before he was released, however, he was given a "good tanning" by the officer in charge. The boy is an incorrigible, and has been before court a number of times.

Heroism of Brakeman Prevents the Cars From Pitching Into the River.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LAUREL, DEL., June 20.-A wreck, with startling incidents, occurred at the draw-bridge over Laurel River, just to-day. Passenger train No 85, going south, over the Delaware Railroad, in charge of Engineer County, approached the bridge at a high rate of speed. The bridge had been turned off for the passage of a lumber laden schooner, and the the engineer falled to see them until he was nearly at the river edge. He gave the signal for brakes, but they falled to work on the engine itself, which shot to the edge of the bridge and turned over, falling directly on the schooner, which it wrecked and pinning Engineer County down under the water, where he was Growned. His body was recovered an hour later.

The fireman jumped and rolled down the steep embankment. He was slightly injured. The train was saved by the heroism of Victor Messick, a brakeman, who dashed under the forward car while it was nearing the edge of the bridge and uncoupled the engine. He was heartily congratulated for his heroism and bravery.

The train was well filled with passengers, and several women fainted after the engineer failed to see them until he

The train was well filled with passengers, and several women fainted after the first shock was over and they realized how near death they had been. James Dobson, a traveling salesman of Norfolk, Va., jumped from the train just before it stopped, and was hurled into a barbed wire fence, cutting himself badly. The dead engineer resides at Philadel phia, and leaves a large family. The bridge was badly wrecked, and it will be several days before it is repaired. Meanwhile passengers are being transferred to the North and South via the Baltimore and Atlantic Railroad.

Another Arrival from the Sweetser-Pembrook Auction.

To-day's offerings present probably the fullest variety and afford the greatest moneysaving that the big sale has yet made possible.

These goods were all bought at the Sweetser-Pembrook auction, which of itself is a pledge of their super excellence and their cheapness. Most of them were unpacked for the first time from their original cases. And that is the proof of their difference from ordinary auction goods-a guarantee that they are fresh and brand-new.

There is one case of them-the others are all proportionately cheap-that we shall sell at 64c a yard, which is precisely and exactly the same goods that we had to sell earlier in the season at 121c.

And that is the final test of their equality of value—as compared with goods bought elsewhere-and their overwhelming economical superiority.

KEEP EMPLOYES OUT OF POLITICS

Captain Masurier's Ordinance Is Favorably Recommended.

mended.

The Charter, Ordinance and Reform Committee of the Council last night favotably recommended Captain Robert Lexiasurier's ordinance providing that it shall be unlawful for any city employe or member of any municipal board to act as judge of ejection or member of any party committee, under penalty of all on and forfeiture of the position held by such person. The vote on the recommendation of the ordinance was manimous, and it now goes to the two branches of the Council for action.

It is believed that it will provoke little or no opposition in the Board, and its patron has strong hopes of getting it through the lower branch, but it is said that some members will probably fignt it there.

At present many of the City Hall employees are in some way connected with the party machinery, either in the capacity of judges of election, registrars or members of the City Democratic Committee, and it is to segregate as far as possible the business of the city from partisan politics that Captain Masurier has offered his ordinance.

The report of the committee will come up at the next regular meeting in July, which will take place on the first Monday night in that month.
